

EINSTEIN'S VIEW

(Capital Fund Campaign Updates and Progress)

Hello all...my name is Einstein, which by the way was given to me so I would not have a complex due to my 'double vision'. Although cross-eyed, I have seen very clearly and first hand, what Seven Blessings is about and more importantly what they WILL become. Over the next year I will host this E news column and will be keeping you all abreast of how 2008 is to be our Flagship year regarding our Capital Fund Campaign and how you can be a part of this grassroots phase. So keep up with all the exciting news...and until next month...'See the Vision' and help us

'build it'.

Einstein came to Holly and me from our daughter, Haley. She found him and though his owner had been by looking for him a few days earlier Haley had no contact info for her. Of course we welcomed him w/ open arms. That was 10 years ago. He became one of us and eventually welcomed all the other felines that found themselves with us as a family and as a sanctuary. Unlike some cats that came to the sanctuary he was quite the dog whisperer and never was shy around his canine family. Einstein loved his time outside and cherished the escapades that allowed him to soak up the sun and listen to the birds. Einstein's life was full. His absence here has caused a void that can only be filled by allowing him to share with you our vision for Seven Blessings in 2008. Although, no longer physically with us, his spirit lives on through the continued existence of Seven Blessings.

As you may be aware, we have lost our land lease and have had to downsize our operation. We have relocated and thankfully, were able to take several of our older, less adoptable residents. As result of the more urban environment of our new location, as of this writing, we have re-homed 8 of our more adoptable dog residents and 2 of our cat residents, a true blessing. Seven Blessings is not over (as some of you may have heard or assumed) and as result of this untimely 'loss of property' occurrence, we feel that we are JUST BEGINNING as we are ever more convicted to our mission. Our new Board of Directors has established 2008 as our official Capital Fund year. Our focus will be toward raising the funds needed to purchase property, design and construct a NEW FACILITY. Until that facility is a reality, we will not be receiving any new residents.

WE HOPE YOU TOO ARE CONVICTED AND READY TO STAND FIRM WITH US BY CONTINUING TO PROVIDE FINANCIAL SUPPORT THROUGHOUT 2008 AND BEYOND.

THOUGH WE HAVE DOWNSIZED CONSIDERABLY, THERE ARE STILL 21 CATS AND DOGS WHO ARE TOTALLY DEPENDENT ON SEVEN BLESSINGS FOR FOOD, SHELTER AND MEDICAL CARE. ALLEN AND I ARE COMPLETELY DEPENDENT ON YOUR GOOD HEART AND LOVE FOR ANIMALS TO SEE THEM THROUGH.
